MEAT FOR THE LEPERS

It is Difficult To Get a Supply.

NO BIDS FOR CONTRACTS

Inability of Board of Health to Obtain Contract Shows Need of Steamer.

The Board of Health is having great difficulty in securing a supply of meat for the leper settlement on Molokai. For months past Superintendent Reynolds has been reporting that the meat sent to Kalaupapa was of a very poor quality, and in one of his reports he spoke of the cattle which were being received at the settlement as "frames," saying that many were so weak and poor when they arrived at the settlement that they could not be used, and died.

Early in the present summer the Board of Health authorized Secretary Wilcox to call for bids for supplying the settlement with meat, for the contract of the Parker ranch, which has been supplying the settlement with meat for the past six months expired on the first of the present month.

The Board discussed the meat question at that time at great length, and it was decided that as there seemed to be great difficulty in securing the proper kind of fresh beef, to try to secure some of the canned beef, or "embalmed beef," as it has been facetiously dubbed, for the settlers.

Accordingly, Secretary Wilcox asked for bids for furnishing this kind of meat for the settlers, as well as fresh beef and salt beef. Ever since then he has been waiting and whistling for bids. No one seemed anxious to take the contracts for furnishing the settlement with any kind of meat. Finally one bid came in for the salt beef, but this was all. No one wanted to take the contract for either the fresh beef or the canned beef.

So the Board will have a tough question to wrestle with at its next meeting. How to supply the lepers with meat is no joke when the contractors will not bid for the job, and it may result in the adoption of the scheme proposed at the last meeting of the Board by Superintendent Reynolds, that of purchasing a schooner and going about the Islands and gathering up the meat at the various ranches as it is needed at the settlement.

The reason for the reluctance of contractors to take the contract for supplying the settlement is said to be that there is no money in it. Beef is scarce in the Islands at the present time, and all of the ranches find it all they can do to furnish Honolulu with the beef that is consumed here, and the large plantations, where big prices will always be paid for fresh meat. But the settlers must have some kind of fresh meat, and this is the hard nut which the Board of Health will have to crack at its next meeting.

"The Board must eventually get a steam or gasoline vessel for the settlement," said Superintendent Reynolds yesterday. "It is a matter that I have called to its attention many times, and it ought to be given consideration. We are paying large sums for freighting beef to the settlement that would be saved had we a tender for the settlement, and then in the matter of securing fresh meat it would mean much to us."

"At the present time half of the loss of the cattle we receive at Kalaupapa is due to the carelessness of the ship hands in landing them. Whether they arrive on shore safely or not they do not care at all, and many are lost just because of their carelessness. If we had a steamer we could handle the cattle ourselves, and we should take care in landing them, and there would be very little loss, or at least much less than there is now. It will be borne in on the minds of the members of the Board that we need a steamer and we will have it some day, I hope."
